

The Past in the Present of the Middle East

Friday 15th April – Saturday 16th April

The Council for British Research in the Levant (CBRL) presents the results of recent research, at a conference to be hosted by the London Middle East Institute (LMEI). Session themes will include:

- Cultural heritage in conflict.
- Cultural heritage, society and economics.
- Britain and the Levant: culture and (mis)communication.
- The past in the political present: the legacy of colonialism and intervention.
- The politics of dissent: challenges to Orientalism and Zionism.
- The impact of research – working with humanitarian agencies/practitioners.
- The future of the past in the Middle East.

Key note speakers are Professor Charles Tripp (SOAS) and Lina Khatib (Arab Reform Initiative)

Venue: Brunei Gallery,
SOAS

Fee: £50 for two days, £30 for one day. Students who register before 7th April may attend for FREE.

Conference fee includes lunch and reception.

Please register via the SOAS online store under the section London Middle East

Institute:

www.store.soas.ac.uk

Council for British Research
in the Levant

LONDON
MIDDLE EAST
INSTITUTE
SOAS University of London