7:00 to 8:30 p.m. Private Reception at the Library of Congress

Welcome by David S. Mao, Acting Librarian of Congress

The Library of Congress is the nation's first established cultural institution and the largest library in the world, with millions of items including books, recordings, photographs, maps and manuscripts in its collections. The Library provides Congress, the federal government and the American people with a rich, diverse and enduring source of knowledge to inform, inspire and engage them and support their intellectual and creative endeavors. The Smithsonian and the Library of Congress are pleased to co-host this special reception.

Friday, June 3, 2016: Optional Workshop/s at the National Museum of the American Indian

Time	Talk / Speaker
9:30 a.m. to 11:00 a.m.	Workshop 1: Incident Command System (ICS) – Its Relevance for the Museum Professional Eric Gentry, Associate Director, Office of Emergency Management, Smithsonian

View Less >

How does your agency manage emergencies? Although ICS is widely used by fire, EMS, and law enforcement personnel it is not as common for museum professionals to use the core principals of ICS when responding to emergencies. This Workshop will provide an overview of the issues that drive the usages of ICS and the misunderstandings of those who currently do not use it.

Why did agencies decide they needed ICS? Does ICS really apply to non-responders? Isn't it complicated to learn if you don't use it daily? What ICS training do I need?

11:00 a.m.
to 12: 30 p.m.

Workshop 2: Developing & Implementing Your Own Collections
Emergency Plan

Stevan Layne, Director, International
